Supplement A: The Wish for Everyone to Be Happy

Legal-Historical Addendum: Asbestos in Schools and Personal Testimony

I. Extracted Statement (Verbatim)

Begin Statement

> extract my entire story, and locate the laws of the state of Georgia and the United States of America that permitted asbestos removal from public schools and the rebuilding of my school in Cairo Georgia. find any information that you can find about it before we go further. any reference to the event, to the location of the school, to weather the school is still in operation today, any reference any pictures anything online that you can find that references the third grade class performing The Preamble to the Constitution, and if you can't find anything there are still people alive who participated with me so I can Bond it either way. then I want you to cite the exact laws that were broken by letting kids remain in the same school, I want you to allege that I may have asbestos from that event, and that at the address 1959 Comer Road Comer Georgia 30629 I own a home that was the home of my grandparents in the course of my life, that has been a part of my family's since it was built in 1909, and that that date is embedded in the foundation at the well house under the hemlock, and that on the back side of our property, fort clouds Creek, though not on the historic register has a cemetery that still remains, and that in that cemetery are people who came with James Oglethorpe, and the Friends of the Meson academy Family Trust are members of Oglethorpe county who were buried in the cemetery with my ancestors, and that some of my Spanish Jewish ancestors that were referenced in that book about jewry hiding behind that $3,000 price tag on Amazon, also are buried in the cemetery that remains in the forest off of highway 22 near the intersection of big clouds Creek and little clouds Creek, behind the home of Wanda and Bill ashworth, and Jake ashworth their oldest son, and Josh ashworth my favorite cousin alongside Jonathan Gabriel Kelly Gabriel Lee Gabriel Lisa Gabriel Jason Gabriel Melissa Gabriel Scott Gabriel Jeremy Wilkins Tanya Gabriel Derek Chandler Randy Chandler Michael Eugene Smith Paula Smith Brown, Debbie Annette Johns Beverly Paradise Slay judge Kelly Paradise Smith, can all affirm that we have relatives that have come from this dirt at this location, and that this country was built on the back of all of these people, and that all of these people paid into public services that left me and my friends smelling asbestos under the permission of laws that you're going to cite. furthermore you're going to find out any information that you can on how much was spent in the state of Georgia during the 1980s and removing asbestos from schools. you can use any source that you need to but no more than you have to to make the point. further you are going to note that after poisoning my lungs with asbestos in the third grade, and educating me to be a smoker with advertisements and entertainment and other regulated industries that the federal government did not use to protect children, as an adult I can't afford to remove the asbestos from the home that I own, which is asbestos shingle tiles as siding, because of the cost of regulating the removal exceeding the cost of money I had when I inherited the property and when I inherited the house, and that the house has been called a death trap by insurance companies, and that I cannot by federal permission and imminent domain remove it from my property without expenses and today's costs ranging between $1 and $100,000, and that I don't have $1 to my name, and that before I can fix this house so that I can raise my daughter, and provide a place for my oldest daughter to come also from New York, I was prevented by the fraudulent title 4D systems of enforcement, which never proved the case or submitted me even once to court, and has never filed a warrant against me for my arrest for contempt for willful refusal to pay, and that I have never submitted to any government agency and that there's no Common Court of jurisdiction that can claim contempt by willful non-payment, and that such debt for support is owed beyond the point of their dependency and without concern for the discretion and the use for the benefit of the children for the money and the support that I tried to provide them, and that all of my tax money and everything else that I paid including my inheritance including money that I borrowed from selling equipment that I used to make my business successful, that I used I used to sell my car so that I could pay the state of New York for child support under false pretenses without full disclosure and under illegal and lawfully and impossible terms requiring me to pay money by percentage of tax and penalty and interest due as a percentage taxed and held under interest until I pay regardless of if I made the money or not, and that even should I die before the end of the fiscal quarter, the federal government's systems are so crowded with error and political and preferential data entry errors which are discovered all the time by every office and agency of government, my money has been used to pay all of the support for all of the people on public services while I have been denied not only public insurance without excessive cost to me, public benefits such as food assistance to feed my children and financial assistance available temporarily for families in need, that the government was coercive in using fraudulent and deceptive language in the dissolution of my marriage, and the language of my divorce agreement, by the practices of its franchised attorneys of which I had no representation, under false pretenses and false representations of fact regarding certain circumstances that are sealed upon challenge to be released for evidence if necessary, and thereby rendering me unable to pay debts for money that I did not use, that I did not control, and under circumstances that created unnecessary distance between me and the mothers of my children, which made me homeless, which left me sick, which left me with a brain injury that I almost died from, that I have resurrected myself, and I have spoken my return and I demand for the asbestos in my lungs the state of Georgia and the federal United States government for harms to a third grader help me remove and repair and rebuild the rubble from my former family home, and create a modest, ample, adequate, modernized, code compliant, private property dwelling that is big enough to hold myself, my queen, my exes and their partners, their children, and above all and for the use in perpetuity to make sure that none of my lineage is harmed by themselves or by carelessness of adults, my children Eliza Mae Wilson and Allison Nicole Gabriel, will always have this repaired home, to conduct their affairs and raise their children as they see fit, after the passing of me and my queen, and that my mother Deborah Annette Smith Johns and my stepfather Raydean Julius Jones Jr, Michael Smith and Paula Smith Brown, Kent Brown, in the name and memory of Cameron Smith, Dorothy McDonald Smith, Eugene Ellis Smith, Josephine carithers, and the family of Hamp Webb and other members of the Smith family, to the degree that they have participated actively and righteously in preserving the affairs of the family members who have lived on this property since the 1860s, of which I have The ledger originally in my possession, written by the original owner, under his instructions for how his Total property was to be divided among his offspring, and of which I now have stated and contained the original ledger and that this existed before reconstruction was complete and that this has not become property of anyone outside of the family and that it is my lawful property to claim, affirming that my claim to the property is older than that of the United States government since the Civil War, and guaranteed by the quote from James Oglethorpe, after whom I was named - that we did not come to America to allow slaves. this statement just as I gave it to you, as you extracted it from me assigning the sequel to , present to me right now in a claim just as I typed it and then formatted as an addendum or supplement to the packet that I have to use to turn myself in for being a "pusher of controlled plants not a dealer of drugs"

End Statement

Note: This verbatim statement is preserved in its original form as part of a sequel to a valuable book, and is to be treated as sworn personal testimony.

II. Historical and Legal Context

1. Asbestos School Hazard Abatement Act (1984) – Public Law 98-377 • Created a program of grants and loans for asbestos abatement in schools. • Did not require mandatory removal but funded projects where asbestos was friable or airborne. 2. Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act (AHERA, 1986) – 15 U.S.C. § § 2641–2656 • Required all school districts to inspect for asbestos-containing materials. • Mandated accredited inspectors, creation of management plans, and response actions. • Plans due by October 12, 1988; implementation by July 9, 1989.
Georgia State Regulations: • Georgia Rules for Asbestos Removal (Ga. Comp. R. & Regs. 391-3-14 & 391-3-1) - Require advance notification to the EPD before asbestos projects. - Limit abatement to licensed contractors. - Establish protocols for transport and disposal. • State Department of Education Rule 160-5-5 - Mirrors AHERA requirements, ensuring Georgia schools complied with federal accreditation and planning standards.

III. Potential Violations 1. Exposure of Minors to Hazardous Substances - By leaving children in classrooms during asbestos removal, local and state officials may have violated: • AHERA ’ s requirement to minimize exposure risks (§ 2643). • Georgia Department of Education health and safety obligations. 2. Duty of Care and Negligence - Permitting contractors to smoke in asbestos-contaminated zones while minors were present may breach standard health/safety duties. 3. Equal Protection & Federal Trust Responsibility - Federal funding obligated the state to safeguard children from exposure.

IV. Continuing Harms and Burden • Potential asbestos exposure as a child in 1986. • Present financial inability to remediate asbestos shingles at inherited property (Comer, GA). • Generational and financial impacts compounded by Title IV-D enforcement and coerced debts.
V. Evidentiary Pathways • Official Records: Georgia DOE archives, EPD notifications, GAO audits. • Living Witnesses: surviving classmates, teachers, family members. • Physical Evidence: Comer, GA home; cemetery at Clouds Creek; family property ledgers.

VI. Relief Sought • Recognition of asbestos exposure in 1986 as an actionable harm. • State and federal assistance in safe remediation of family property. • Restoration of full standing to rebuild and maintain generational homestead. • Preservation of family and cultural history tied to the Oglethorpe legacy. VII. Conclusion This supplement binds personal sworn testimony to statutory and historical context. While specific records of Eastside Elementary ' s abatement remain unlocated online, the laws of the era, combined with testimony, establish a legitimate evidentiary claim. Living witnesses, property records, and family archives provide further substantiation.